FRIDAY 9 MAY 2014

Pan Pacific Perth Australia, 7 May 14: One Atmosphere Pty. LIMITED announced as winner of the 2014 WAToday Telstra Innovator of the Year Award.

Award: Mr Tim Lyons, Managing Director (One Atmosphere) with the WAToday Entrepreneur and Innovator judges.

One Atmosphere is very pleased to announce that the Pegasus post-crash emergency buoyancy system has been awarded the 2014 WAToday Telstra Innovator of the Year Award.

The Pegasus innovation is designed to keep helicopters at the surface after a crash or a controlled ditch into water. Pegasus activates autonomously to arrest a sinking aircraft rendering it positively buoyant within seconds. The system is design to provide significant buoyancy allowing the helicopter to float in a favourable orientation which enables occupants to more easily and safely egress from the aircraft, therefore increasing survivability.

Mr Lyons said “We are very proud and truly honoured to receive this fantastic award. I’d like to thank the judges, sponsors and event coordinators and wish every success to the entrepreneurs and innovators here today in their business and commercialisation endeavours”.

One Atmosphere would like to thank the WAToday Entrepreneur & Innovator Award Sponsors: WAToday, Curtin University, Telstra, Bank of Queensland, Wrays and Reseau. We would also like to especially thank the event coordinator Via Appia Networking WA.
